

Remember

A Pink Floyd cento

Remember when you were young
Free to play alone with time
Another time, another day
And every day is the right day

Breathe, breathe in the air
Clouds of sunlight floating by
Stolen moments floating softly on the air
Which one's pink?

Do you remember me? How we used to be?
Cause I'm the man on the outside looking in
You know the folly was your own
The wire that holds the cork that keeps the anger in
You lock the door and throw away the key
The last sunlight disappears
Well, you go your way, I'll go mine

How do you feel, how do you feel, how do you feel?
Music seems to help the pain
The sounds surround the icy waters underground

Change returns success
Out of the way, it's a busy day
Action brings good fortune
Try to keep up with the turning of the wheel

But I have grown older and
Shorter of breath and one day closer to death
Nothing is very much fun any more.

I'm spiralling down to the hole in the ground where I hide

So have a good drown, as you go down, all alone

Just nod if you can hear me

An echo of a distant time

And I would like to know

Have I been guilty all this time?

Wish you were here.

Chris Adie